

GOALS

Promote the reformation of criminal offenders and reduce the incidence of recidivism.

Provide a cheaper alternative to the institutional confinement of first-time offenders who are likely to respond to individualized, and community-based treatment programs.